

ABSTRACT

According to an image description system, a feature extracting unit extracts a layout feature from each of frames of an image sequence. A 5 representative feature calculating unit calculates a layout feature representative of the image sequence from a group of the layout features extracted by the feature extracting unit.